

One Thing is absolute

Talking about nuclear weapons would be reductive
To illustrate the genius of this weird physicist
Had it not been for his work which took us out of the mist
We might not have discovered everything was relative

Talking about the beginning of all
Even before the Big Bang became a reality
Humans had no sense of gravity
And could not account for their fall

Einstein came up with his theory
Because one thing is absolute
We can talk about relativity

Finally, no matter how big the E
It is just a question of balance
With the square of velocity.
