

Without you, I can't function no more.
More than ever, you transform my life.

Life in which my cardiac frequency has never been so high.
High but still equal to what I feel for you.

You represent the integrality of what I think.
Think about how I love you to infinity and beyond.

Beyond all that, our fairy tale tends to minus infinity sometimes.

Sometimes I just want to function another way but I just can't.

Can't believe you're still seeing your ex behind my back.

Back then when my love was exponential, you loved her.

Her plus you, minus the two of you, my life would have been better.

Better than the taste of the pie I would have thrown at you back then.

Then I couldn't stop to imagine, when you weren't beside me, that you were seeing someone someone which turned out to be ex, another one, again!

Again and again, at a high frequency you fooled me.

Me, the person who transcribed you in my DNA and would have loved you till the end
End of the story, you can go back with your ex.

$$\hat{f}(\xi) = \int_{-\infty}^{\infty} f(x) e^{-2\pi i x \xi} dx$$